Briefing on status of recent deep monitor well sampling (John Corra and EPA)

Notes:

1. It has been a long time since our last meeting, so we expect that some time may be needed to review past efforts, etc. While not on the agenda, please feel free to ask questions and share insights about where we have been, etc.

2. EPA, DEQ and OGCC staff have given some thought to these matters, and attached to this email are some draft documents that represent that thinking. Please review these ahead of the meeting and come prepared to talk about them. While Gary's charts are a summary of pressure testing to date, the other two docs are from DEQ and EPA and are intended to be 'straw models' of potential ways to describe the work remaining and a path forward. We can use these as a guide to generate our next steps and focus our future efforts.
